drum corps world Christmas covers

The newspaper has been blessed with some very talented artists, three of whom have provided all of the special Christmas covers that have appeared in Drum Corps World since 1973. Don Daber provided each of the illustrations from 1973 to 1976, then traded back and forth with Joe Provenzano between 1979 and 2002. A college friend of Publisher Steve Vickers, Paul Dexter, created the covers in 1977 and 1978, along with several outside projects like three collages for McCormick's Enterprises in the late 1970s that were used at the top of yearly calendars the company produced.
